DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1-4,6-9,11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gamo et al. in U.S. Patent No. 4,843,203 in view of Ohashi in Japan Patent No. 4-105,820 and Inoue in Japan Patent No. 63-120,030. Gamo et al. discloses a wire cutting electric discharge machine and in column 2, lines 10-34 further discloses using different offsets for upper and lower wire guides to perform taper machining. Ohashi teaches a storage means (element 82) for storing corrective amounts in memory and motion path determining means (elements 80,81) based in part upon the wire electrode diameter. Inoue teaches compensating for the amount of wire electrode consumption by adjusting the correction value using the tangent of an angle (see pages 2 and 3 of Inoue) in order to prevent a straightness error of the wire electrode. It would have been obvious to adapt Gamo et al. and Inoue to provide this to more accurately machine the workpiece. Regarding claim 13, it is within the level of ordinary skill in the art to finish operation when machining is completed.

4. Applicant's arguments filed 15 October 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The limitations and motivation not found in the Gamo et al. reference are found in the Ohashi (820) and Inoue (030) references. In particular, in any further argument the Ohashi and Inoue (030) references should be fully described by Applicant rather than merely as "English Abstracts".

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
